The Basin Community House Code of Conduct

Thank you for supporting the purposes of the House.
The code of conduct has been developed to provide guidance around expected behavior for all participants to ensure that everyone who comes to the House feels welcome and accepted.
All participants and visitors are required to observe this code of conduct and display appropriate behavior.

All individuals must:

- Treat others with respect, courtesy and sensitivity
- At all times engage in conduct that ensures a safe and healthy environment
- Engage in conduct that is in keeping with our culture of kindness and caring
- Foster an environment that encourages equal opportunity and where discrimination, bullying or harassment of any kind is not tolerated
- Ensure all participants, regardless of their race/ethnicity, religious beliefs, age, ability, sexual orientation, gender identity, financial or social background and education, have equal rights and feel free to participate
- Adhere to all policies and procedures, and comply with all laws and regulations
- Respect the privacy of all members, participants, staff and volunteers in accordance with our Privacy Policy
- Uphold the organisation's good reputation.

If you complete an enrolment form, register for an activity or hire a building managed by TBCH you are agreeing to comply with this policy.
